1 Define your problem statement

What problem are you trying to solve? Frame your problem as a How Might We statement. This will be the focus of your brainstorm.

5 minutes

---

PROBLEM

Shopping online is currently the need of the hour. Because of this COVID, it's not easy to walk in a store randomly and buy anything you want. Hence understanding things like Customer Analysis and Product Analysis of this Global Super Store is essential

---

Key rules of brainstorming

To run an smooth and productive session

- Stay in topic.
- Encourage wild ideas.
- Defer judgment.
- Listen to others.
- Go for volume.
- If possible, be visual.

Employ analysis in effective management	The gap between analysis and action is usually the information available to you.	Don't expect analysis to control the future — it can only help you make better decisions about the future.
Use structured analysis to plan effectively and successfully.	Remember that the major reason analysis is useful is that it is a structured method for examining complex problems.	Don't spend too much time on analysis. The best analysis is the one that leads to a decision and action.

Group ideas

Take turns sharing your ideas while clustering similar or related notes as you go. Once all sticky notes have been grouped, give each cluster a sentence-like label. If a cluster is bigger than six sticky notes, try and see if you can break it up into smaller sub-groups.
